Dear Frank:

Upon my return to Washington this morning, I checked on my engagements for November 17. I should be delighted to see you almost any time at your convenience. I am free for lunch if that is convenient for you, otherwise I would suggest either 12:00 noon or 2:30 P.M.

It was a pleasure to have had a chance to talk with you at Princeton. It seems to me that if we are to make our advisory role of some use to justify the time and effort put into the Princeton visit, we should try to get our teeth into more substantive matters than we were discussing last night. We might have a further word about this on November 17.

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles
